

A PROVEN APPROACH TO ENSURE SCORING CONSISTENCY AND ENDPOINT QUALITY

Data collected from patients, caregivers, and clinicians can either validate signal detection or present serious risks to clinical research outcomes. Ensuring raters administer scales consistently will reduce inter- and intra-rater variability, minimize placebo response and rater bias, and lead to more accurate and reliable endpoint data.

Signant Health's precision-focused rater training improves your chances of signal detection in these ways:

ENSURE ACCURACY

We qualify and train raters to make certain they adhere to scale rules and score consistently.

STANDARDIZE

Our clinical science and medicine experts assess rater performance and recalibrate as needed to prevent errors.

MONITOR

Data analytics and central review services add an additional layer of quality control by monitoring in-study data for potential quality concerns.

Why choose SmartSignals™ ?

- 01 Signant's rater training focuses on patient selection, adherence to scale rules, symptom measurement, and mitigation of placebo response.
- 02 Ongoing retraining and recalibration throughout a study lifecycle ensures reliable endpoint data.
- 03 Our Rater Training and Qualification services have been studied extensively by industry leaders and proven effective so you can trust that your raters are enrolling the correct patients and score consistently.
- 04 We maintain a global network of independent central reviewers and raters who conduct central scoring of site-based interviews and central ratings of off-site assessments.
- 05 Blinded Data Analytics works hand-in-hand with Rater Training to add an additional layer of quality checks by identifying potential issues such as bias, errors, or fraud.
- 06 When utilized in conjunction with Signant's eCOA platform, alerts notify investigators of protocol inclusion/exclusion violations and potential threats to data quality at the time of an interview or exam.
